James Smith – A Devotional Glimpse at Psalm 23

"I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever!" Psalm 23:6

Notice, David's expectation for eternity. Not in the sheepfold in the wilderness, but in the house of the Lord! The dwelling-place of God, the family residence of the Father of mercies and His beloved children. In that house, we shall have . . .

all our desires gratified, all our prayers answered, and
our highest expectations more than realized!

James Smith – A Devotional Glimpse at Psalm 23

"I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever!" Psalm 23:6

There we shall dwell in peace, united to all the saints, and enjoying the society of all the ransomed brethren! All friendship will be unchangeable, and fellowship perpetual and pure.

There we shall dwell and worship--and our worship will be spiritual, pure, and perfect!

There we shall dwell and enjoy--and our enjoyments will be dignified, delightful, and eternal.

There we shall dwell and obey--and our obedience will be perfect, hearty, and perpetual.

Well then may the Psalmist say, "In Your presence is fullness of joy; in Your right hand are eternal pleasures!"

"I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever!" Psalm 23:6

Let us often think of home!
This vain world is not our rest.
Here on earth, we have no continuing city.
Home, the home of the believer's heart, is in the skies . . .
where Jesus is,
where Jesus reigns,
where love is perfect,
where there is always a full tide of joy,
where God displays all his glory,
where grace satisfies the utmost desires of every renewed soul!
